

Driftwood Productions to premiere
'The First Raindrop & The Last Teardrop at White Night 2011

"...It's about what happened... a few years back... when I ...when I was researching in the Atacama Desert – I lost myself ...in the driest place on Earth..."

Driftwood Productions UK bring you the world premiere of The First Raindrop & The Last Teardrop an unusual story retold by 'a scientist'. But who is the scientist, you?

Transport yourself to another world and learn of a connection between Earth's Atacama Desert caves and the seven sisters on Mars. The search for water - the search for life - and how a mountain range divides the hottest place from the wettest place on our planet...

We put the words in your mouth; you are the eye of the beholder.
